MAN SHOT, ROBBED AS BANDITS DEFY CRIME CRUSADERS

W. O. Cannon, sitting in car near police station, resists thugs, but is wounded in leg and robbed of $190.

COAL OFFICE, STORE ARE ROBBED OF $145

Armed Bandits Victimize Two Concerns in Police Headquarters Vicinity. 30 Deputies Join Drive.

Bandit guns roared Friday night almost in the shadow of the police station as robbers openly defied the greatest drive on crime ever inaugurated in Atlanta. Within a radius of six blocks of police headquarters and within a few hours' time, bandits shot one man and robbed him, and held up a coal company office and a store and escaped with $255 in cash while the police force, augmented by 120 extra patrolmen and 30 Fulton county sheriff's deputies, patrolled the city streets. Late Friday night, three negro women and two negro men were arrested, found to be in possession of $800 in cash and a recently-fired pistol, and ordered held on suspicion in connection with the holdups.

W. O. Cannon, of 343 Kirkwood avenue, S. E., was wounded in the left leg by three negro thugs who robbed him and V. W. Estes, of 146 Holzclaw avenue, S. E., of $190 as they sat in Estes' car in front of the Decatur street, according to police reports. Cannon was admitted to Grady hospital, and Estes was treated there for severe powder burns about the face.

Approached from either side by armed negroes, Estes made a desperate attempt to frustrate the robbers. He grabbed at two of the bandits and in the melee three shots were fired, one striking Cannon just above the left knee. The negroes forced him to raise his hands, and then searched both men. Cannon and Estes both said they knew the negroes, and gave police their names.

In the offices of the Norwood Hedge Coal Company, at 359 Decatur street, only six blocks east of police headquarters, three negroes with drawn guns held up Norwood Hedge and an employee, Jerry Warren, bound them hand and foot to a bench, and went through the cash register, which gave up $75. Then Hedge's pockets were searched for cash, $30.

In a few minutes, a report came from the grocery store of Ike Sweet, Continued in Page 2, Column 1.

Republicans Clinch Control of Senate

DENVER, Col., Nov. 18.—(UP)—Republican control of the short session of the senate starting December 5 was assured tonight.

The Colorado vacancy senatorship contest, breaking a tie between republicans and democrats, resulted today in the election of Karl C. Schuyler, republican, of Denver. The vote stood 206,606 for Schuyler to 205,298 for Walter Walker, his democratic foe, after counting absentee ballots in all but 10 of the state's 63 counties.

The balance of the vote, unofficial returns showed, will not change the result.

Charges of Cruelty on Chain Gang To Be Investigated by Cobb Jury

MARIETTA, Ga., Nov. 18.—Martha F. Amoroso, foreman of the Cobb county grand jury, stated today that a thorough investigation of charges of cruelty to inmates of the county convict camp would be made when the jury reconvenes here Monday morning.

The grand jury, which was convened here last Monday, had already adjourned Thursday for the week-end when the resolution, signed by 10 members of the Marietta Woman's Club and three Marietta ministers, asking for an investigation of the Arguments in the case of J. Royce Means, motion picture operator charged with assault with intent to murder in connection with the bombing of the Georgia theater, will be concluded this morning before Judge R. Earl Camp, of Dublin, in a special division of Fulton superior court. Defense Attorney Jack Savage Friday night delivered the opening argument, and was followed by Sam D. Hewlett, special state counsel, who spoke for the prosecution. Assistant Solicitor-General E. A. Stephens and Defense Attorney William Schley Howard will deliver the final arguments this morning, after which Judge Camp will charge the jury.

ATTEMPT ON LIFE OF VON PAPAN BARED

BERLIN, Nov. 18.—(AP)—An attempt on the life of Chancellor Von Papan on Tuesday was disclosed today when Mrs. Paula Budde was sentenced to a special court to three months' imprisonment for carrying a dagger.

She was arrested in the chancellor's office on Tuesday when she sought an interview with Colonel Von Papan. The chancellor's secretary became suspicious and telephoned the police, who said they found a dagger a foot long concealed in her dress.

BERLIN, Nov. 18.—(AP)—The political spotlight shifted once again today to Adolf Hitler, leader of the nation, by airplane for a conference with President Von Hindenburg tomorrow at which he will set forth the course he proposes to follow in dealing with Germany's cabinet problem.

The Nazi leader kept his own counsel. At his party headquarters he would have the tolerance if not the active support of the stalemated reichstag.

The president had separate conference with Dr. Alfred Hugenberg, leaders of the nationalist party; Dr.

NOTED CRUSADER AMNESIA VICTIM, NEPHEW ASSERTS

Had Been Prospecting for Gold in North Carolina Mountains; U.S. Agents Find Missing Man.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Nov. 18.—(AP)—A nation-wide search for Colonel Raymond Robins, prohibition leader and friend of President Hoover, was ended tonight when he was identified as "Raymond Rogers," who has spent the last two months in an isolated mountain village in western North Carolina.

Colonel Robins was identified today by his nephew, John Dreier, of New York, who said the philanthropist was suffering from amnesia.

Robins failed to recognize his nephew when they talked this afternoon. He was dressed in rough clothing and wore a long beard. During the past two months he spent much time hiking in the mountains and "prospecting" for gold.

Announcement of the identification, which set at rest rumors Robins had been kidnapped by bootleggers in reprisal for his prohibition activities, was made by J. Ed Kanipe, deputy prohibition administrator, and Dreier.

Dreier declined to divulge Colonel Robins' whereabouts but left Asheville several hours after his arrival, leading to the belief he was still in Swain county.

For the past two months the prohibition leader has been living in a combination hotel-boarding house in Whiter, a village of 500 persons deep in the mountains of Swain county, some 60 miles from here.

While there he made four political speeches, urging re-election of his friend, President Hoover, and admitted that if—and he already is calling the turn—changes in prohibition "outside" allow the brewing of 2.75 stuff,

STATE SEEKS TAX ON 'BOOTLEG' GAS

W. A. McClain Jr. Named Assistant Attorney-General on Percentage Basis

W. A. McClain Jr., a young Atlanta lawyer, revealed Friday that he had been appointed on September 30 a special assistant attorney-general by Governor Richard B. Russell Jr. to lead an effort on the part of the state to collect unpaid taxes on gasoline and motor oil "bootlegged" into the state.

McClain said he had entered into a contract with the state to collect these taxes on a percentage basis.

Preliminary work of organizing a group of auditors and accountants to seek data on alleged nonpayment of this tax over the seven years of operation of the tax has been completed and the work of seeking out the delinquents will be launched Monday, McClain said.

Under the terms of the contract McClain and the auditors and accountants associated with him are to receive no compensation or expenses from the state, beyond their percentage of the unpaid taxes collected.

The contract, McClain said, calls for payment to him of 25 per cent of the first $50,000 collected, 22 1/2 per cent of the second $50,000, 15 per cent of the next $250,000 and 10 per cent of all over $320,000.

The appointment, according to McClain, was made by Governor Richard B. Russell Jr. on September 30, with the approval of Comptroller General.

Capones Desert Gangland, Buy 101 Ranch; Will Build Brewery If Prohibition Goes Out

The "White House" of the 101 Ranch in Oklahoma, which is being purchased by the Capone syndicate, according to E. E. Beach, agent for the ranch receivers. Here, Capone plans his comeback, with a legal brewery as a sideline.

BY RILEY MCKOY.
Al Capone, once the beer baron of Chicago, but now a number in the federal penitentiary here, has made his plans for the comeback when, as and if he is released into "outside." And already those plans have a beer-huge-silhouette an amazing turn for the Seafront in that the new brewery will be fully within the law and entirely "legal."

Final and definite arrangements for the comeback were concluded here Wednesday and Thursday when an agreement was ratified for the purchase by the Capones—Matthew, Mimi and Ralph—and some unnamed friends of the "main stem" of Colonel Zach Miller's 101 Ranch in Oklahoma, E. E. Beach, of Pawhuska, Okla., agent for the receivers for the properties, stated here Friday.

But beer, being beer, and the Seafront, being the Seafront, was admitted that if—and he already is calling the turn—changes in prohibition "outside" allow the brewing of 2.75 stuff,

TRIAL OF CLAYTON ENDS IN DEADLOCK

Jury Unable To Agree on Fire Captain's Fate, Mistrial Is Declared.

Deadlocked 11 to 1, the jury in the case of Roy V. Clayton, veteran fire captain, charged with the murder of his brother, C. C. Clayton, was discharged at 11:30 o'clock Friday night after approximately nine hours of consideration. A mistrial order will be entered before Judge G. H. Howard this morning, by attorneys for Clayton.

The jury took the case under consideration at 2:20 o'clock Friday afternoon and more than half a dozen ballots were taken before 11:30 o'clock.

At the final ballot, the jury stood 11 for involuntary manslaughter, and for acquittal, if the defendant was acquitted, if he was on route to Asheville and "hearing up."

Shortly after Robins' disappearance Mrs. Robins issued a statement that possibly he had been kidnapped by Florida bootleggers.

On the day of his disappearance Robins had an appointment with President Hoover in Washington. His disappearance had been attributed in some sources to Russian imperialists because the dry leader favored recognition of soviet Russia.

Whittier is connected with the outside world only by a branch railroad and has but two telephones, one at a

BRYSON CITY, N. C., Nov. 18.—Colonel Raymond Robins, who has spent the past six weeks prospecting for gold in the mountains of western North Carolina, is at the home of Bob McLean at Whittier, near here, and "in tolerable good health," S. R. Patterson, sheriff of Swain county, told the United Press tonight.

"He told us he came from up Kentucky way," Patterson said. "He gave the name of Raymond Rogers. He said he knew President Hoover and Franklin D. Roosevelt, and that he also knew Teddy Roosevelt."

"He made several political speeches up here. He was for Hoover for president. All his speeches were national. He didn't take part in the state races. He also made speeches upholding prohibition."

"Robins' true identity began to be suspected a few days ago, Patterson said, when the story was published from Boston where a man arrested there told police that Robins had been downed by a rum runner. An Atlanta paper carried Robins' picture. One of the residents at Whittier saw the picture and discovered the resemblance it bore to "Rogers."

Representatives of Jobless Urge Governor To Prevail on Hoover To Withdraw Opposition to National March.

ROOSEVELT TO STAY 2 WEEKS IN GEORGIA

Sympathetic Reception Is Given To Protesters But Governor Is Firm as He Refers to Riot Incident.

BY WALTER T. BROWN.

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 18.—(AP)—President-elect Roosevelt today talked with three representatives of "hunger marchers" who demanded he urge President Hoover to withdraw his request to governors to discourage a march on Washington when congress meets next month.

The three men who sat with the New York governor in his study at the executive mansion for more than an hour also called upon him to summon the legislature to appropriate $100,000,000 to feed the jobless; provide transportation for the Washington invasion and guarantee the demonstrators immunity from "police terror" in crossing New York.

"Every person," said Mr. Roosevelt, "has a perfect right to travel, and naturally the governor hopes the police throughout New York will exercise humane methods and give fair treatment."

"Yes," sarcastically replied Milton Stone, of New York, one of the delegates, "we got fair treatment here on March 2, two years ago."

"But you were guilty of a very serious offense against the state," the governor cut in. "You attempted to break up a session of the legislature and nothing happened until you tried."

State police on the occasion referred to ejected a delegation of communists who demanded unemployment appropriation. When hecklers resisted removal a general melee developed and several persons were injured.

Mr. Roosevelt explained to the three men, Stephen Sam Weisman, leader of the unemployed council of New York city, and Richard Sullivan, that he

C. C. UTILITY RULE RAPPED BY PERRY

Check for $1,000 Is Paid to Beneficiary Of Victim of Accident in Conway, S. C.

Georgia Official Tells Commissioners That State Should Control.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Delegation of public utilities regulation to state commissions free of political slants rather than the interstate commerce commission is advocated by James A. Perry, chairman of the Georgia public service commission.

His views were expressed in a paper read here today at the convention of the National Association of Railroads and Public Utilities Commissioners.

Mr. Perry said, in part: "The subject of uniformity of laws in dealing with the regulation of public utility service is one that has had the consideration of various organizations for many years. Recommendations have been made looking to proper control of securities issued by the different types of business necessary in serving the public. Other presentations have been made looking to uniform rates and uniform rules relating to service."

Rails First Regulated. "The railroad business of our country, for obvious reasons, first called for consideration by the law-making authorities along the lines. Indeed, several states began this work well in advance of the congress of the United States in its creation of the interstate commerce commission. No one can seriously approach this subject without having some misgivings of any satisfactory proposal coming from a very unworkable condition at this time. I make bold to assert that if states had provided proper regulation both to rates and service for the railroads, and with such uniformity as is entirely possible, we would have had no need for federal regulation. I reach this conclusion because as one must admit, state commissions are in a much better position, indeed much better qualified, than any central body at Washington or elsewhere in dealing with the subject of rates for railroads. While I say this can be done, we all must admit in the same breath that it hasn't been done. Little or no effort has been made by state commissions to provide uniformity of regulation in any line. The inevitable result was federal regulation for the interstate portion of all service beyond the jurisdiction of state authorities. And quite to be expected, once federal regulations were conceived one piece of legislation after another has been conceived in the thought that federal legislation should be clothed with such authority as to leave the states with only such semblance of jurisdiction as to be wholly subservient to federal regulation."

U. S. Control Unsatisfactory. "Federal control of this subject to the extent as the written law now provides and as approved by reviewing courts, will never successfully handle the question. In saying this I need only refer to what to my mind appears a certainty, the absolute breaking down of the work of the interstate commerce commission. By the very nature of their limitations they will never be able to fairly and intelligently regulate rates that can be followed in state regulation. The facts upon which the federal commission must rely are too dependent upon untrained and inexperienced work in their present procedure of examining investigations and reports. This will not, in justice to the subject as well as myself, be construed as a criticism of such examinations and such reports. The failure follows in the fact that the examiners have no opportunity to know the facts as the commissioners, and with less ability and less training you often have the result of reports that mean little or nothing in so far as a true picture of the facts are relevant to an intelligent understanding of a given case. Case after case may be cited which reflects the most conscientious efforts of the interstate commerce commission looking to proper rates both with regard to a proper return on the property used in serving the public as well as uniformity in matters of concern to the shipping public. But the application of such rates enriches valuable property in one section of the country and at the same time destroys even more valuable property in another section of the country. I say this in no spirit of criticism but simply to illustrate a condition that is beyond the power of human ingenuity to correct. The thought is not limited that the railroads find their chief difficulty in unwise and over-regulation in the written federal law and federal regulation."

At Public Expense. "Utility business in any form that becomes a victim of regulation conceived in politics is soon to be crippled and finally destroyed, principally at the expense of the general public. What I have said with regard to railroad rates and railroad regulation by state authority can as well be applied to any other form of utility, gas, capitalization or service. We find ourselves with the inescapable conclusion that federal control of either of these subjects is not the remedy. On the other hand candor compels me to say that until state commissions omit the political slant in the discharge of their duties the solution of this question is not to be found in state regulation. It follows that the cure for over capitalization, discriminatory rates and regulations, fair to the investor and the public, must find its solution in capable and conscientious work of state authority."

Capitalization of business of the kind under consideration is the one question that has the attention of America at this time. The reasons for this are obvious and any reference to particular cases is not necessary for

DO HEADACHES DRIVE YOU CRAZY?

It's the worst kind of folly to do and drug yourself every time you have one of those blinding, throbbing headaches. For drugs only relieve the pain for the moment, and in a little while the headache returns worse than ever and you have to drug yourself all over again. You've got to get at the cause. Poisons created in your own body cause these severe headaches, and you must remove the poisons to get relief of a lasting nature. By starting the new harmless Cream of Nujol treatment, today, you may free yourself from this constant torment.

This new form of Nujol is specially designed to rid you of poisons which very often cause this condition.

Cream of Nujol contains no drugs, and does not in any way interfere with work or play. It is delicious to take. Moreover, you can use this modern treatment at a cost of but a few cents a day.

Take Cream of Nujol night and morning. Begin this very night and give it a real trial. Buy it at any drug counter.

ATLANTANS TO GREET HOOVER BOARD HEAD

Plans for greeting A. W. Robertson, of Pittsburgh, chairman of the national committee appointed by President Hoover on industrial rehabilitation, were laid Friday at a conference attended by Georgia leaders and Joseph Dilworth, managing director of the organization.

Dilworth was the guest of L. W. (Chip) Robert, leading Atlanta engineer, who is vice chairman of the sixth federal reserve district committee, and was in conference with Thomas K. Glenn, state chairman, Thomas Fuller, state vice chairman, and John Gelzer Jr., chairman of the executive committee.

High praise for the sixth district organization and its progressive and effective work was given by Dilworth. Theodore Swann, of Birmingham, is chairman of the district organization. The visitor said Robertson will come to Atlanta within the next few days and said his visit here was prompted because of the effective manner in which the plans of the organization are being prosecuted in this territory.

"Dilworth left Atlanta Friday afternoon for Washington to attend a meeting of the fifth federal reserve district to be held there. "The purpose is to modernize plants and get ready for the prosperous era which industrialists and businessmen believe is imminent," Robert said in commenting on the activities of the committee. "We are urging those engaged in all lines of endeavor to replace worn out machinery while it can be done at present low prices and prepare for the era of prosperity and return to business and industrial achievement, which we believe to be not far off."

Move Made to Force Inspection of Brakes

Compulsory inspection of brakes and automobiles, and trucks was proposed Friday to Mayor James L. Key's special traffic committee by Sam Levy, Atlanta businessman, and the commission referred the proposed city ordinance to the committee on legislation for report at the next meeting.

Under the plan, all automobile owners would have brakes and headlights inspected semi-annually by a designated official. A fee of 75 cents would be charged for the inspection, half to go into the city treasury and the other half to the inspectors. Those charged of their duties the solution of this question is not to be found in state regulation. It follows that the cure for over capitalization, discriminatory rates and regulations, fair to the investor and the public, must find its solution in capable and conscientious work of state authority."

PLANS ARE OUTLINED FOR NEW LEGION BODY

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Byron F. Beard, commander of the North Carolina department of the American Legion, today outlined plans for the formation of a junior organization to be known as "Sons of the Legion."

Beard's explanation of the junior organization was given the closing session of a three-day conference held by departmental officers at the Legion's national headquarters. The Legion convention, held at Portland, Ore., last summer, approved the formation of the junior organization, which will be open to sons of men and women who served in the World War.

the purpose of this discussion. One school of thought has a solution of the problem that correction shall come from federal legislation. The answer is that wherever you find the federal congress undertaking anything pertaining to rates, capitalization or service, it is necessary to have a present housing of the various boards, bureaus, commissions and "what-nots" that have become necessary (?) in Washington during the last 25 years will compare them to the necessary facilities of this kind existing 25 years ago, there can be no surprise in the demand of the American people as reflected in the recent election on November 8, as I construe the result. The people of this nation want less government in business and more business in government. . . .

MANSON WILSON, 72, SHOE MERCHANT, DIES

Pioneer Atlantan Was Widely Known in Business Circles of City.

A heart attack suffered several days ago caused the death Friday morning of Manson Wilson, 72, widely known shoe merchant and pioneer Atlantan. Mr. Wilson died at his home, Fernbrook, on Cascade road, where he was born and reared.

The son of the late Judge W. A. Wilson and Amanda Glass Wilson, of Adamsville, Mr. Wilson was educated in Fulton county schools and had spent his entire business career as a shoe merchant here, having been connected with the J. M. High Company and others. He was a member of St. Mark Methodist church.

In addition to his wife, the former Miss Eva Bell, daughter of the late Captain J. L. Bell, he is survived by three daughters, Mrs. May Wilson Hatcher, Mrs. C. Stewart and Miss Helen Owen Wilson; a son, James Bell Wilson; three sisters, Mrs. J. T. Collier, Mrs. W. A. Coopedge and Mrs. Wilton Lee; a brother, John Wilson, of Liggett, Ky., and four grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by H. M. Patterson & Son.

RHODES-WOOD PLANS BIG RUMMAGE SALE

Walter J. Wood, vice president and general manager of the Rhodes-Wood Furniture Company, announced plans Friday for an old-fashioned rummage sale as a means of clearing the third floor for the installation of new merchandise.

The furniture taken in trades and new pieces that have been in stock for some time are included in the sale.

By taking in an adjoining building and making extensive alterations, the company has doubled the space of its old location. The growth of the business, Mr. Wood said, made it necessary to use the third floor for new suits.

Prohibition Law Warmly Defended In W. W. Gaines' Report to Baptists

Declaring that prohibition had accomplished much good, "having reduced the consumption of liquor 70 per cent," and that the eighteenth amendment was the best plan for controlling liquor yet devised, W. W. Gaines, chairman of the social service committee of the Georgia Baptist convention, Wednesday read his committee report before the Baptists at the final session in Macon.

After calling attention to the good of prohibition, that it had eliminated the saloon, reduced the consumption of liquor by 70 per cent, had ended the government's partnership with liquor, had eliminated liquor advertising and contributed to the prosperity of the country, the report announced its opposition to the state's rights plan. "We have tried that," the report stated. "Our state was dry before national prohibition. In spite of all that we could do liquor came across the state line in unlimited quantities. We had a state law against it, but there was a federal law against it, but it came in anyway and all but nullified our state law. No, if national prohibition is abandoned state prohibition would be largely run."

"The allowance of beer would practically nullify the eighteenth amendment, for beer constituted seven-eighths of all the liquor consumed before prohibition days. To legalize beer would be to legalize seven-eighths of all liquor production. Nor would a tax on beer go far toward balancing the budget. The average tax received on beer for the five years before the war was $74,620,000, which is a long way from the $1,500,000,000 claimed by the advocates of beer. Nor would it help employment much for the brewing industry employ only one-fourth as many workmen as the average of other industries."

The report contained an attack on the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment which it called "a du Pont subsidiary," and "a millionaires club," who were not interested in beer themselves but in securing a reduction in their income taxes. "One of them has said that a tax on beer would relieve one of his corporations from $10,000,000 in income taxes," the report said. "Charles H. Sabine, a wealthy banker, is a prominent member of the organization and has declared that no-

DYNAMITE PROBE AIDED BY FULTON

County Adds $1,000 to Reward for Arrest in Campaign of Sabotage.

Rewards for the apprehension of dynamiters who have been conducting a campaign of sabotage against the Georgia Power Company Friday were increased by $1,000 to be given by Fulton county for arrest and conviction of the guilty parties. It was announced after members of the county commission appeared before the grand jury.

Commissioner C. A. Matthews, of DeKalb county, pledged the grand jury his support and said that he will investigate to find out if he will be able to supplement the rewards, it was said.

The grand jury will hold a special session Monday morning to continue its investigation of the dynamiting of high-tension towers of the power company and thefts of dynamite from government magazines.

The five members of the Fulton commission, Paul S. Etheridge, chairman; George F. Longino, Dr. W. L. Gilbert, Walter C. Hendrix and Walter B. Stewart, offered the grand jury a co-operation of the county in chasing down the dynamiters. Clarke Donaldson, city chief of construction; Attorney General Lawrence Camp, Warden A. C. Aderhold, of the federal prison, and Mayor James L. Key have been requested to appear before the grand jury at Monday's session to consult with the jury on a program of co-operation. Warden Aderhold will be asked to take additional precautions against theft of dynamite from the federal liquor farm. It was said.

MELVIN PERDUE DIES AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

Melvin Perdue, 55, of 206 Eleventh street N. E., died Friday night at a private hospital after a brief illness. He was well known in his community and was manager of the Perdue Systems Supply Company, with offices at 410 Rhodes building. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. A. D. Dressler Perdue, and a daughter, Miss Nyr Perdue, of Atlanta. Funeral arrangements will be announced by Brandon, Bond and Condon.

MRS. GENTRY'S CAT PRONOUNCED BLACKEST

Mrs. O. G. Gentry, of 510 Holder street, owns the blackest black cat in Atlanta. Out of several hundred cats which competed in the contest for the blackest held by the Dodge clothing store Thursday night, Mrs. Gentry's cat won the prize, a new suit or overcoat.

The contest will open at 56 Peachtree street this morning.

Suppose We Scrap Our RAILROADS... and Tear Up the Tracks!

Ridiculous thought—isn't it?
SCRAP THE RAILROADS—TEAR UP THE TRACKS! Destroy billions of dollars in valuable property—wipe out the basic investment security of the Nation—eliminate one of the largest taxpayers—cripple industry by destroying a tremendous market for raw materials and finished products—and, gravest of all, THROW MILLIONS OF RAILROAD EMPLOYEES OUT OF A JOB AND INTO THE BREAD LINE!

Preposterous! And, yet—

Is it so preposterous? Isn't that just exactly where we are headed if we don't STOP JUST TALKING and DO SOMETHING ABOUT THIS RAILROAD SITUATION?

Nearly Ten Thousand Railroad Employees in normal times in Atlanta and Fulton County, ALONE—A FOURTEEN MILLION DOLLAR ANNUAL PAY ROLL. Today—less than Six Thousand Railroad jobs here—and the yearly pay roll shrunk to a little more than Eight Million Dollars. EIGHTEEN THOUSAND ATLANTA MEN, WOMEN AND CHILDREN ALREADY THROW INTO WANT and FIVE MILLION DOLLARS A YEAR ALREADY LOST TO ATLANTA TRADE!

In the Atlanta district, and all over the country, Railroad purchases forced down to the very minimum required to keep traffic safe—the Government compelled to lend taxpayers' money to the roads so they can pay interest charges and taxes and temporarily continue functioning—thousands upon thousands of stockholders in all walks of life deprived of income through lack of earnings—railroad investments shrinking less and less in value day by day—and EVERY MAN, WOMAN AND CHILD either directly or indirectly SUFFERING AS A RESULT!

Why such a deplorable condition?

Simply because, unthinkingly, we have largely withdrawn our CREAM BUSINESS from the Railroads—and in so doing, We Are Helping to Scrap Our Railroads just as surely as though we ARMED OURSELVES WITH SLEDGE HAMMER AND PICK AND DELIBERATELY WENT OUT AND DID THE JOB!

Nobody wants to destroy commercial motor vehicle transportation. It has a definite place in modern life—BUT IT CAN NEVER SHOULDER OUR HUGE TRANSPORTATION BURDEN.

Think of attempting to transport all the basic raw materials, agricultural and manufactured products essential in our daily economic life up and down and across this vast country by any other means than the RAILROADS. IT CANNOT BE DONE—IT NEVER WILL BE DONE.

All that this auxiliary mode of transportation can accomplish without breaking down our transportation structure is as an AUXILIARY SERVICE. And in such service they are and will be an indispensable aid in our modern transportation needs.

WE CANNOT CONDUCT BUSINESS—WE CANNOT LIVE WITHOUT THE RAILROADS. Visualize the result if the Railroad wheels should lock for even twenty-four hours. It would cause nothing short of a national calamity.

BUT WE CAN'T TAKE ALL THE CREAM AWAY FROM THE RAILROADS AND EXPECT THEM TO LIVE ON THE LEAVINGS.

Let's start thinking straight on this railroad matter. Let's not do injustice to anyone. But let's make up our minds that if we are to KEEP THE RAILROADS FROM BEING SCRAPPED, with the resultant calamity to all of us, WE MUST GIVE BACK THE CREAM FREIGHT AND PASSENGER BUSINESS TO THE RAILROADS that enables them to live.

THIS IS THE ONLY SALVATION FOR AN INDUSTRY WHOSE FUTURE LIFE AFFECTS EVERY ONE OF US IN GREATER ATLANTA—AS WELL AS IN THE NATION.

SUPPORT OUR RAILROADS AND WE SUPPORT ATLANTA!

Junior Leaguers Score Great Hit With 'Golden Goose,' Benefit Play

In a preview for children of Atlanta charitable organizations "The Golden Goose," Junior League fantasy, broke the ice for a smashing success at two performances Friday when the old and young of the city turned out to rock with laughter and become entranced with the beautiful lore in the story. The show will be repeated at 2:30 and 8:30 o'clock this afternoon and tonight at the Atlanta Woman's Club.

So brilliant was the performance that indulgent grown-ups who Friday attended "merely to take the children," left praising a show as whimsical as Harrie and as intriguing as "Alice in Wonderland." A beautiful princess, rulers, court jesters, pages and attendants of mythical kingdoms view their beauty with the waddles of ducks, penguins and other animals. The riot of color and the lavish costumes and background made of the amateur play a thing of beauty.

Description of the play would be inadequate and at the same detract from the enjoyment of those who will attend one of the showings today, summarizing, "it's a knockout," according to reviewers.

Given for the benefit of the Benetia Egleston Memorial hospital for children, the cast of the play is made up of Junior League members and their children. Matinee seats sell for 25 cents for children, 50 cents for adults and 50 cents additional for boxes. Night prices will be 50 cents for children, 75 cents for adults, and box seats $1 additional.

The fantastic play was secured for an Atlanta presentation when members of the Junior League saw it in Pasadena, Cal. So intrigued were they with the performance they contracted to bring it here.

Amy Johnson Breaks Hubby's Mark In Brilliant London-Cape Town Hop

CAPE TOWN, UNION OF SOUTH AFRICA, Nov. 18.—(P)—Amy Johnson, 23-year-old British flyer, took the England-to-cape speed record away from her husband, Captain J. A. Mollison, by bringing down her tiny monoplane, Desert Cloud, at the Cape Town airport this afternoon four days, 6 hours, 55 minutes after her take off in Britain.

She was dog-tired—but not too tired to dab some powder on her nose that she might make a proper appearance. "Three cheers for our British Amy," shouted a woman spectator as Miss Johnson climbed out of her plane.

A crowd of 2000 persons cheered the daring flyer and there was a great din of motor horns.

Miss Johnson's first thought was to communicate with her husband back in England. As she pressed through the throng toward the airport office and a telephone, she was informed that she had cut 10 hours and 24 minutes from her husband's record for the Cape Town flight.

"As much as that?" she asked. "I thought it was only about an hour. I am sorry in a way that I beat him, but it was actually sporting of him to inspire me to undertake the attempt."

Tonight she slept soundly at the home of a friend and meanwhile government officials made plans for celebrating her feat.

Memorial to 'Fathers of Aviation' To Be Dedicated at Kitty Hawk

KITTY HAWK, N. C., Nov. 18.—(P)—A slender granite column, rearing its beacon-lighted head 151 feet above sea level, will be dedicated here tomorrow as a memorial to the Wright brothers, who nearly 20 years ago launched a new era in transportation by the first successful flight of an airplane.

Representatives of the federal and state governments will participate in the unveiling ceremonies while the latest models of aircraft circle and swoop around the scene.

The proposed flight of the navy dirigible Akron to Kitty Hawk to participate in the exercises was cancelled because of poor weather conditions tonight. The ship, moored to its mast following a 24-hour training flight, was stowed away in its hangar at about 8:30 when the weather report was received and will not go aloft until next week.

Orville Wright, who shared with his brother Wilbur, now dead, in the birth of the airplane, accepted an invitation to be present. Ruth Nichols, the aviatrix, will unveil the monument, a 90-foot aviation pylon with a beacon at its peak, built on a 61-foot dune. The memorial cost $175,000, which was appropriated by congress, and required 21 months for construction.

Secretary Hurley of the war department will accept the monument for the United States. Governor John G. Pollard, of Virginia, and Governor-elect J. C. B. Ehringhaus, of North Carolina, representing Governor O. M. Carter, are scheduled to be among the guests of honor.

Inclement weather caused a change in the plan of Secretary Adams, of the navy department, to fly a part of the way and motor the remainder in order to attend, but Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the bureau of aeronautics, will represent the navy department, and Brigadier General Benjamin D. Foulois, chief of the army air corps, is also on the list of notables who have accepted invitations to attend.

U. S. C. OF C. ASSAILS PRESENT REVENUE ACT

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 18.—(P)—The committee on federal taxation of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States recommended today that congress enact no tax measures except those necessary for balancing the budget and that changes in the federal government's present revenue program be based upon substantial reductions in expenditures.

The committee said it was opposed to present advocacy of a sales tax, but that if it became necessary to overcome a government deficit in 1933 it would propose securing revenue "possibly through a manufacturers' sales tax with a number of safeguards."

The recommendations were made in a report presented to the winter meeting here of the board by the committee's chairman, Redfield Proctor, marble manufacturer, of Proctor, Vt.

The committee said it did not believe legislation providing new taxes should be attempted at the short session of congress, aside from the "possible beer tax," and that only if it appeared a current deficit will threaten national credit.

The committee cited as objectionable features of the present revenue act the personal income tax rates which it said were "discriminatory," the corporate income tax rate which it said was too high, the rates on estates described as "little short of confiscatory," and "high excise taxes," which "contain elements of discrimination and unfairness."

Reviewing the Shows

"Rackety Rax" To Show Today at the Georgia

"Rackety Rax," a raucously funny college comedy, opens a three days' engagement at the Georgia Saturday. Victor McLaglen, Greta Nissen and Neil O'Day have the principal roles. This Fox comedy depicts the hilarious adventures of a group of sport racketeers who muscle their way into college football and other sport activities.

Broadway show girls, night club habitués and the co-eds of Carnarvon College all provide plenty of interest. Marjorie Beebe has the role of a ferocious racketeer's wife who writes with anger whenever she sees her husband's "sweetie," a role played by the platinum blonde beauty, Greta Nissen. Esther Howard is cast as "Sister Carrie," an evangelist, who serves tea and cakes to the clubwomen but at heart is just a racketeer's gigolo.

Others in the cast are Arthur Pearson, Allan Dinehart, Allen Jenkins, Vincent Barnett, Ivan Linow and Stanley Fields.

Gaynor and Farrell At Paramount Today

The screen's sweetest lovers, Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell, make their bow to local audiences at the Paramount today in their latest picture, "Tess of the Storm Country." The picture sticks very close to the story, and anyone who remembers the novel knows that these lovers never had a better opportunity to portray the style of romance for which they have become famous.

Miss Gaynor is seen as Tess, the daughter of an old sea captain who settles down ashore, as he feels that his daughter is too old to be carried on the ship. Nothing need be said of the ability or the popularity of these two and any story which they may enact is always done well. At Evans at the Warrenton will present a "Thanksgiving Medley." The short features booked are "Screen Souvenirs," one of those clever old-fashioned film reviews, and James Milton, the radio star, will sing a screen song entitled "Sing a Song." Paramount News is always interesting.

"Berkeley Square" Ends Erlanger Run Today

The two final performances of "Berkeley Square," the most unusual of recent stage successes, which this week been given a lavish production at the Erlanger theater by the popular Permanent Players, will be given today. There will be a matinee at 2:30 and a night performance at 8:30. Advance seat sale for both performances has been heavy, but there are many desirable seat locations yet available at the box office. Seats are also on sale for all performances next week when "A Church Mouse," a most delightful comedy of love and business, will be presented. This is the play that ran for more than six months on Broadway with Bert Lytell and Ruth Gordon in the roles that will be played here by Fredric Tozere and Doris Packer. Another of the beautiful productions for which the Permanent Players have become notable may be expected.

Wrestling Is Exposed In Rialto Picture

"Deception," a picture which combines a charming love story with a great exposure of the wrestling industry into a plot packed full of thrills, opens a three-day run at the Rialto theater today. Leo Carrillo, Nat Pendleton, Thelma Todd, Dickie Moore and Barbara Weeks are the principals in the cast.

Just how easily the promoters of professional wrestling bouts find it to trick the public into boxoffice enthusiasm is thoroughly disclosed in this picture. In the disclosure some of the funniest shots ever taken by a camera are secured while mighty men of muscle grunt and groan around the mat in simulation of terrible agony, although they are really staging a "good show" out of a bout of which the winner has been decided long before.

In addition to this unusual Columbia production, which in itself provides marvelous entertainment, Manager W. T. Murray has gathered a group of splendid short screen subjects to complete his new program.

Fox Has Screen Epic In "The Conquerors"

"The Conquerors," highest screen production of 1932, a worthy successor to "Cimarron," "Covered Wagon" and other epics of the screen in the past, is the new feature today at the Fox theater, where it is to show for one week with no advance in prices, despite the stupendous cost involved in making the picture.

It is a story of three generations of an American family and teaches, without preaching, a powerful lesson in courage and optimism in these present days of financial depression. The cast is admirably chosen, with Richard Dix and Ann Harding rivalling each other for first honors in the main roles. Edna May Oliver and Guy Kibbee provide delicious humor with that essential touch of pathos-throughout.

With Jimmy Beers playing a special group of organ numbers, including the lovely "Sourire," and with exceptional short subjects completing the program the Fox should enjoy a splendid week at the boxoffice, for "The Conquerors" is the type of picture that will prove a delight to every class and every age of theatergoer.

CAROL, Mich., Nov. 18.—(P)—Miss Grace Hosler, 34, admitted today, sheriff's officials said, that she had poisoned her brother, sister, brother-in-law and a hired man on the brother's farm home near here "because they ridiculed her."

The brother, Oscar Hosler, and Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Hatch, brother-in-law and sister, became violently ill after eating food prepared by Miss Hosler, but are recovering in a hospital. The hired man was not seriously affected.

GENERAL DAWES' NIECE WILL WED NEXT SPRING

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—(P)—The engagement of Miss Margaret Dawes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus C. Dawes, to Beverly Jefferson, of Evanston, Ill., was announced by her parents today. Miss Dawes' father is president of a "Century of Progress," the coming world's fair, and she is a niece of former Vice President Charles G. Dawes, recent ambassador to Great Britain.

The wedding was set for next spring.

Financial Lack Threatens Missions, Methodists Hear

Foreign Missions Board Suffers 50 Per Cent Income Reduction in Three Years, Says Dr. Goddard.

BY W. H. MOBLEY, Associated Press Staff Writer.

ALBANY, Ga., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Dr. O. E. Goddard told the south Georgia conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, that unless the church comes to the support of its missions the denomination's missionary enterprises are threatened with disruption. He has charge of foreign activities for the general board of missions.

The board's income three years ago, he said, amounted to about $1,500,000. It dropped to approximately $1,000,000 in 1930 and to about $750,000 in 1931. The estimated total income for the year is only about $700,000, he said.

He said the board had lived within its income.

"But we will enter the new year with our credit almost exhausted," he said, "and I can see no human agency that can carry us through. Our sole hope lies in prayerful intercession that will bring the stewards of God's money to put it to work where He has directed us to serve."

R. N. Allen, assistant secretary of the general board of church extension, said that since 1900 the board has contributed to the construction of the value of church buildings in the United States from $23,000,000 to $185,000,000 and parsonages from $4,000,000 to $27,000,000.

The 50-year period in this conference, he said, has seen church membership increase from 33,837 to 107,748 in 1931, and the number of churches from 442 to 719. The conference, he reported, has contributed a total of $333,668 to the work in 50 years and got back $571,374 in donations and loans.

The conference, on motion of the Rev. Walter Anthony, of Macon, voted to devote special attention during January to efforts for benefit of superannuated ministers.

He said that in addition to material reductions in conference collections, the south Georgia allotment for this purpose from the general conference and from profits of the church publishing house have been cut, making necessary this year a reduction between 15 and 20 per cent in the "red" fund, real estate agent, under the plan of the church.

The delegates took up a collection on the conference floor for the old preachers.

E. C. Peters, president of Paine College at Augusta, a school for negroes, asked the conference for increased support of the school. He also asked the delegates to attend a meeting in Augusta February 7-9 of the general missionary council. The meeting will be held to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the school which Peters said was the only one of its kind supported by a southern church.

Greetings to the conference were brought from the Woman's Missionary organization by its president, Mrs. George Nunn, of Perry. She said her organization had contributed $46,000 this year, a reduction of less than 10 per cent.

Ministers in the conference on trial were all passed to the next class.

The conference today was told it had "less money but more mission" as presiding elders delivered reports reflecting financial hardships during the past year.

The conference voted to meet in Brunswick next year after an invitation was presented by the Rev. A. W. Reese who said all Protestant churches and civic organizations of the coast city were behind the invitation.

Dr. D. B. Ellis, secretary of the board of church extension of Louisville, closed the discussion of district reports by saying that there was "encouraging signs along the spiritual line. We seem to have less money but more religion."

Every district reported membership increases, increased financial in church leadership and organizations of new Sunday schools, Epworth leagues and women's missionary societies. Figures on the increases will be compiled tomorrow.

Harvey W. Cox, president of Emory University in Atlanta, told the delegates he believed the development of the moral and spiritual life in young people as the result of these distressing times ultimately will be worth all it is costing.

Tomorrow a class of five ministers will be admitted to full membership in the conference. They are Elman R. Lewis, of Jacksonville, Ga.; James Warren Stipe, of Emory University; John Gordon Ivey, of Wrightsville; Melvin Eugene Peavy, of Talbotton, Ga.; and J. B. Cobb, of Japan, who took vows in that mission field before a bishop and will be admitted in his absence.

Several major boards tonight were still busy with financial problems in preparation of reports which must be submitted tomorrow.

Dr. Comer Woodward, of Emory University, chairman of the conference board of temperance and social service said the report of his board had been delayed pending a determination of policy on several points including the course to be followed in support of prohibition.

KILLER TO FACE TRIAL FOR 6-YEAR-OLD CRIME

COLUMBUS, Ga., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Six years ago R. L. Shepherd was saved from a murder trial by insanity but now alienists say he is sane and he has been brought here from the asylum to face court next week on a charge of cutting off his wife's head.

She was slain in the northern section of the city about seven years ago. Shepherd was charged with murder but at arraignment he pleaded insanity and was committed to the state asylum at Milledgeville.

A few weeks ago doctors examined him and reported his sanity has been restored and he was returned to the Muskego county jail. His trial is docketed to start Wednesday.

Eases Headache In 3 Minutes

Lifer Returns to Gang After Making Escape

WHITE, Ga., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Wade Johnson, a life-terminer, ran away from the Harlow county chain gang camp last night and walked back today.

Camp authorities said they figured he would come back and he was recaptured while walking down a highway leading to the camp.

Officials said in justice to the prison they wanted it understood that Johnson was coming back of his own accord.

Johnson and Paul Stinson, a convict from Fulton county, escaped from a tractor early last night. Poses followed and Stinson soon was captured. Johnson, however, eluded posers all night.

Want Intangibles Taxed.
QUINTMAN, Ga., Nov. 18.—(AP)—The Brooks county grand jury has adopted a resolution urging the county commissioners and tax assessors to seek intangible property now evading taxation and have it placed on the tax books.

Tobacco Meeting.
TIFTON, Ga., Nov. 18.—(AP)—S. H. Starr, director of the Coastal Plains experiment station, today announced the annual tobacco farmers' meeting would be held at the county house here November 20. Experts will discuss the various phases of growing and marketing tobacco.

7 Hurt in 2 Crashes On Roads Near Macon

MACON, Ga., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Seven persons were injured in two automobile collisions in the rain tonight and five of them were admitted to local hospitals.

A collision on the Forsyth road sent the following to one hospital: Edwin L. Butts, building contractor, twelve miles and 20 per cent in the "red" fund, real estate agent, under the plan of the church.

The delegates took up a collection on the conference floor for the old preachers.

E. C. Peters, president of Paine College at Augusta, a school for negroes, asked the conference for increased support of the school. He also asked the delegates to attend a meeting in Augusta February 7-9 of the general missionary council. The meeting will be held to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the school which Peters said was the only one of its kind supported by a southern church.

Greetings to the conference were brought from the Woman's Missionary organization by its president, Mrs. George Nunn, of Perry. She said her organization had contributed $46,000 this year, a reduction of less than 10 per cent.

Ministers in the conference on trial were all passed to the next class.

The conference today was told it had "less money but more mission" as presiding elders delivered reports reflecting financial hardships during the past year.

The conference voted to meet in Brunswick next year after an invitation was presented by the Rev. A. W. Reese who said all Protestant churches and civic organizations of the coast city were behind the invitation.

Dr. D. B. Ellis, secretary of the board of church extension of Louisville, closed the discussion of district reports by saying that there was "encouraging signs along the spiritual line. We seem to have less money but more religion."

Every district reported membership increases, increased financial in church leadership and organizations of new Sunday schools, Epworth leagues and women's missionary societies. Figures on the increases will be compiled tomorrow.

Harvey W. Cox, president of Emory University in Atlanta, told the delegates he believed the development of the moral and spiritual life in young people as the result of these distressing times ultimately will be worth all it is costing.

Tomorrow a class of five ministers will be admitted to full membership in the conference. They are Elman R. Lewis, of Jacksonville, Ga.; James Warren Stipe, of Emory University; John Gordon Ivey, of Wrightsville; Melvin Eugene Peavy, of Talbotton, Ga.; and J. B. Cobb, of Japan, who took vows in that mission field before a bishop and will be admitted in his absence.

Several major boards tonight were still busy with financial problems in preparation of reports which must be submitted tomorrow.

Dr. Comer Woodward, of Emory University, chairman of the conference board of temperance and social service said the report of his board had been delayed pending a determination of policy on several points including the course to be followed in support of prohibition.

KILLER TO FACE TRIAL FOR 6-YEAR-OLD CRIME

COLUMBUS, Ga., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Six years ago R. L. Shepherd was saved from a murder trial by insanity but now alienists say he is sane and he has been brought here from the asylum to face court next week on a charge of cutting off his wife's head.

She was slain in the northern section of the city about seven years ago. Shepherd was charged with murder but at arraignment he pleaded insanity and was committed to the state asylum at Milledgeville.

A few weeks ago doctors examined him and reported his sanity has been restored and he was returned to the Muskego county jail. His trial is docketed to start Wednesday.

CLASSES AT G. S. C. W. NAME SUPERLATIVES

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Nov. 18.—In a recent election, the senior class of G. S. C. W. elected several annual who's who representatives. They are: Miss Willard Ragon, Hawkinsville, most beautiful; Miss Bennie Johnston, Orlando, Fla., most original; Miss Marion Keith, Marietta, most gifted; Miss Frances Adams, most graceful; Miss Ida Green, Canton, best all-around; Miss Carol Reed, Gainesville, most charming; and Miss Eugene Lawrence, Eatonton, most literary.

In a similar election the juniors selected the following most outstanding members of their class: Miss Virginia Tanner, Douglas, Miss Dot Smith, Milledgeville; Miss Evelyn Turner, Thomasville; Miss Emily Renfrow, Columbus; Miss Margaret K. Smith, Atlanta; Miss Christine Goodson, Dawson, and Miss Marie Parker, Atlanta.

Outstanding members of the sophomore class were selected as follows: Miss Josephine Redwine, Fayetteville; Miss Viola Carruth, Roswell; Miss Lillian Jordan, Doraville; Miss Sara Stembright, Macon; Misses Josephine and Virginia Peacock, Macon; and Miss Josephine Jennings, Milledgeville.

C. M. E. CONFERENCE HELD AT COMMERCE

COMMERCE, Ga., Nov. 18.—The C. M. E. conference was moved today by the timely address of Bishop J. A. Hamlett. He urged that the "true prophet must break through the barriers in search of truth. It has always been true with such Biblical characters as Elijah, John the Baptist, Amos, Micah and all of the prophets. Our Master in all of His great deliverances broke through Jewish traditions. He dealt in the realm of motives."

The conference took up the disciplinary questions, and it was found that Reverends G. A. Thomas and G. H. Evans had died during the year. The conference suspended business and offered song and prayer.

The conference is being stirred daily by the sermons of Doctors F. H. Rogers, Jackson, Tenn., and J. M. Reed, Little Rock, Ark. The afternoon sessions are featured by "The Forum." This session is conducted by leaders of the conference, such as Doctors J. A. Bray, A. F. Bailey and J. H. Wiggin.

The committee upon the state of the country will give its report tomorrow. It is felt that there will not be many changes in appointments at this session.

President M. S. Davage, of Clark University, Atlanta, and Professor B. W. Doyle, dean of men, Fisk University, Nashville, were presented and addressed the conference.

NUTS PAY SUBSCRIPTION FOR LITERARY DIGEST

WASHINGTON, Ga., Nov. 18.—Bartering went into the upper brackets last year when the Literary Digest accepted pecans from a Washington subscriber in payment of her subscription. On testing the nuts by taste the management immediately ordered another pole—long enough to knock down an additional shipment for cash. Negotiations are now on for a yet larger shipment this year at a price advance commensurate with the shortness of the crop.

COPPER MEN TO DEBATE SLASH IN PRODUCTION

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Leading American and foreign producers of copper have been invited by the Copper Institute to participate in an international conference on production curtailment. It was learned today, according to present plans, the conference will open November 28 in New York.

State Deaths and Funerals

BLAINSVILLE, Ga., Nov. 18.—Mrs. Lyle Davenport, 65, died Wednesday following short illness at the home of her son, E. L. Davenport. Mrs. Davenport, who was a native of Yancy county, North Carolina, came to this region while a small child.

Mrs. Davenport is survived by 10 of her 13 children and by 75 grandchildren and 150 great-grandchildren residing in various sections of the state. The funeral, with Rev. John E. Cook officiating, was held at her home about 11 o'clock last night. Burial was in the church cemetery. Rev. Martin Vincent, pastor of the Brownwood Methodist church, conducted the service.

MRS. GRACE WILLY.
THOMASVILLE, Ga., Nov. 18.—Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at the Little Rock Baptist church for Mrs. Grace Willy, 22, formerly of this county, who died Monday night in an Atlanta hospital. She was the daughter of Mrs. George Willy of the Okefenokee district and was married a few months ago to W. M. Willy of Atlanta. Besides her mother and father and her husband she is survived by two brothers, Elwood and Hugh Lewis, and three sisters, Mrs. A. T. Hicks, Misses Leta Lewis and Gladys Lewis, all of Okefenokee.

JOHN WILLIAM GAY.
DAWSON, Ga., Nov. 18.—John William Gay, 80, well known Terrell county farmer who resided in the southern portion of the county about 16 miles from Dawson, died at his home about midnight last night. Funeral services were held at the Methodist church Friday afternoon. Burial was in the church cemetery. Rev. Martin Vincent, pastor of the Brownwood Methodist church, conducted the service.

Surviving are his wife, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Gay, of near Dawson; seven sisters, Mrs. E. F. Todd, Mrs. R. J. Watson, Mrs. Clyde Hays, Misses Elizabeth, Annie Lee, Theresa and Correll Gay, all of Terrell county, and three brothers, Lewis Gay, of Terrell county, and Hurrell Gay, of Terrell county.

Judge Would Reduce Own Salary From $5,000 to $2,000 Per Year

MILLEN, Ga., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Judge H. B. Strange, of Statesboro, Ga., Thursday said there was no reason why a superior court judge should receive an annual salary of $5,000, and that his own salary should be reduced to not more than $2,000.

Judge Strange spoke to a large audience that had gathered to pay respects to him during the last term of court over which he will preside. He is voluntarily retiring from the bench after 12 years of continuous service.

He advocated governmental economy in all of its branches, saying it is the only "salvation of the common people," adding that "my idea of helping the common people is to give them a chance to make a living. The government should not take care of them. Taxes should only be enough to defray the actual expenses of operation, and not high enough to take care of the entire population."

Referring to the recent general election Judge Strange said that he voted the democratic ticket and that he expects some good to result in the change of administrations, but that he does not expect it to come without hard work and individual effort.

He added that "the people of the United States are not nearly as bad off as they think they are."

Referring to taxes he said that all taxes were too high, "made no by the excessive costs of government."

And as to salaries he added that "if it was my privilege I would cut every salary in Georgia. People can't carry such expense. The wealth of the nation is in the soil. Most of the timber is gone; most of the turpentine operations have played out; and only the land remains. The main thing now is the opportunity to work it. We must reorganize our energy; economize, keep faith and courage. Be men, not children."

News of the Day From Fort Benning

FORT BENNING, Ga., Nov. 18.—Announcement of the advancement of Master Sergeant James P. Bennett to the rank of captain on the army retired list was contained in war department orders received at headquarters of the infantry school. Master Sergeant Bennett was retired from active service at Fort Benning on November 1, 1925, and since that time has been connected with the post as a civilian captain.

The promotion of Master Sergeant Bennett was made in recognition of his war-time service, during which he held the rank of captain, and commanded Company K, 336th infantry, 83d division, overseas. After the armistice he was on duty for a time at the port of embarkation, Hoboken, N. J., assisting in the demobilization of troops returning from overseas.

Master Sergeant Bennett began his military career in 1900 as a member of the 9th infantry, with which he served in China and at the siege of Peking during the Boxer uprising. Subsequently he served with the 10th infantry and the 30th infantry in the Philippines, and his record also includes service with the 4th, 20th and 48th infantry regiments. At one time he was an instructor of military science with the R. O. C. unit of the University of North Carolina, and prior to his retirement he served for three and one-half years with the forestry school detachment at Fort Benning.

The following transfers and assignments of enlisted men are announced in orders issued by headquarters, the infantry school:

Private Levy C. Massey, detachment quartermaster corps, transferred to cannon company, 20th infantry.

Private Clyde W. Phillips, recently enlisted, assigned to the infantry, Panama Canal department.

Private Marylin M. King, Thomas M. Bonker and Jesse McVey Lovelace, recently enlisted, are assigned to the 69th infantry (light tanks), Fort Benning.

THREE SEEK PLACE AS U. S. MARSHAL

MACON, Ga., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Three men are definitely in the contest for United States marshal for the middle district of Georgia and several more names were being mentioned in political circles.

Er. G. Jacobs, Macon druggist, today said he was definitely a candidate and reports from Valdosta said B. C. Lastinger, democratic leader, would seek the position.

Representative Carl Vinson, of the sixth district, has announced he would recommend Julian Peacock, also a Macon druggist, for the appointment to the incoming democratic administration.

CEDARTOWN DRIVES ALL "OVER THE TOP"

CEDARTOWN, Ga., Nov. 18.—The Red Cross Community Chest drive, which has just been completed here, went over the top. The objective was oversubscribed with quite a number of prospects still to be seen. The drive was to cover a six-month period.

Coincident with this drive, a special drive agitated primarily by John Dadds and Sig Duke and directed primarily toward the bachelors and married men without children was on to raise money for shoeless school children. Several score of these unfortunates were provided with shoes and stockings from this fund.

BIBB JURY TO PROBE ALLEGED TAX DODGING

MACON, Ga., Nov. 18.—(AP)—The Bibb county grand jury has named a special committee to investigate charges that certain firms and corporations have practiced "tax dodging," sometimes returning as low as 10 and 15 per cent of their actual worth.

The committee, composed of A. B. Lee, contractor; R. B. Dame, president of the Macon Milling Company, and C. B. Holmes, salesman, was not expected to report before January.

Affidavits on file in the tax collector's office showing the net worth of some 200 firms and corporations will be checked against actual returns in the tax receiver's office.

ROOSEVELT TO ATTEND FORESTRY GATHERING

President-Elect Accepts Invitation From Meriwether County Group.

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Nov. 18.—(AP)—President-elect Roosevelt will talk trees with his Georgia neighbors when he comes here to his southern cottage to rest.

He has accepted an invitation to attend a meeting November 29 of the Meriwether County Forestry Preventive Association. He is a charter member of the association and is largely responsible for its formation. The president-elect makes a hobby of trees and a study of timber conservation.

He will arrive here for a vacation next week and has notified the association he will attend its meeting. Clark Howell, editor and general manager of The Atlanta Constitution, Governor-elect Eugene Talmadge, United States Senators Cohen and George, Senator-elect Richard B. Russell Jr. and T. S. Woodford, president of the Georgia Forestry Association, have been asked to participate in the meeting.

Dr. Charles H. Herty, research chemist of the department of forestry and geological department, will tell of his work on southern woods for white paper. Dr. Herty has been scheduled to speak in each of the eight forestry districts of the state and already has been heard at Savannah, Augusta, Waycross and Albany. His address here will be for the Columbus district. He will be heard later in the Macon, Rome and Gainesville districts.

The Meriwether association protects 10,000 acres of timberland along Pine mountain. A steel fire tower has been erected, a donation by Miss Georgia Wilkins, of Columbus. The tower was dedicated by Mr. Roosevelt several years ago.

MRS. JAS. CALLAWAY PASSES AT MACON

MACON, Ga., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Mrs. James Callaway, 81, widow of a former columnist of the Macon Telegraph, died Friday. Mrs. Callaway was born in America, the daughter of Timothy Mathews and Margaret Holt Furlow. She had lived in Macon for about 40 years.

She is survived by three sons, Merrill P. Callaway and Holt F. Callaway of New York, and James W. Callaway, of Columbus; and three daughters, Mrs. E. Palmer Mason, of Savannah; Mrs. Frank F. Jones, of Clinton, and Mrs. Kate C. Malone, of Macon.

Funeral services will be held here Saturday.

Signboards Point Way On Inland Waterway

BRUNSWICK, Ga., Nov. 18.—(AP)—They're fixing it to a farm boy from Iowa or North Dakota could navigate craft in the inland waterway along the coast.

Beacons and buoys, always mysterious to landlubbers, are being supplemented by signboards nailed to piles in the water that look just like mileposts at any country crossroad.

The lighthouse service has even adopted the wooden finger that points the way on the highways. Wherever the maritime finger points it means deep water and safety from shoals.

WATERWAY HEARINGS RECESS UNTIL NOV. 28

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Senate hearings on the St. Lawrence waterway treaty were recessed today until November 28 with sufficient opposition testimony on hand to make consideration of the pact at the coming short session of congress a subject of concern among its friends.

Chairman Borah announced that supporters of the project for a connecting waterway between the Great Lakes and the sea for ocean vessels would be heard when the hearings are resumed week after next.

The committee chairman said the hearings had developed "strong political influence" against ratification of the treaty.

"Vigorous opposition to the treaty has come from the railroads and investors in them, eastern seaboard cities and Great Lakes shippers. They have based their opposition on the following arguments:

That the cost would be so much greater than estimated as to make the project economically unsound.

That there is no demand for the added transportation facilities.

That rates are now so low that shippers' savings would be negligible, if any.

That the waterway would constitute a subsidized system of transportation in competition with the railroads.

That ocean-going ships could not reduce the cost of transportation because of the specially adapted "pe" of ships now in use on the lakes.

That foreign powers would be too expensive to sell on a commercial basis and would have no market.

CITY EMPLOYE TELLS OF FLOGGING BY MOB

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Ed Thomas, city employee, described to officers and a Duval county grand jury today how he was taken from his home and beaten by a mob last August. This brought to 21 the number of persons who have reported floggings to the authorities since last summer.

DEMOCRATS TO PLAN INAUGURATION PARTY

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 18.—(AP)—The state democratic executive committee will meet in Savannah some time in February to make plans to attend the inauguration of President-elect Roosevelt next March 4, Hugh Howell, chairman of the committee, said Friday.

Mr. Howell said he is confident most of the committeemen will go to witness the inauguration of Governor Roosevelt, part-time Georgian. He said 15 rooms have already been engaged in the Hotel Willard, Washington, for committee members.

The new state committee chairman, who succeeded Lawrence S. Camp at the head of the body after the election of Eugene Talmadge, was here today with Governor-elect Talmadge, en route to Little St. Simon's island for a deer hunt.

SHANNON GROUP ENDS COMPETITION HEARINGS

Testimony Hampered by
Boycott Threats, Prober
Declares.

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Representative Joseph B. Shannon, of Missouri, and his congressional committee today came to the end of their long investigation of government competition with private business.

The hearings, begun last summer, recessed until the committee returns to Washington December 5 for the session of congress.

"There's just one other thing," Shannon said. "I probably will take some testimony next week in Kansas City from postal employees on their benefit financially from installation of food vending machines in the postoffice here by outside merchants, free of taxes, rent or any other charge."

Asked as to the committee's possible attitude toward continued operation of the farm board, Shannon said they "seemed to be against it, but that no decision has been reached."

Shannon said his hearings at Kansas City, Washington, South Bend, Ind., and Chicago had brought out "only one-fifth of the evidence which might have been obtained if government employees' threats of boycott had not kept other witnesses away."

Phil S. Hanna, editor of the Chicago Journal of Commerce, denied before the committee a charge made by a previous witness that his newspaper was an "organ of railroad propaganda."

"That's a bit of 'loose talk,'" he said. In response to a committee request for suggestions for reducing government costs and competition with business, Hanna said he would put a cost accountant in every government bureau, sell bulletins only at cost of publication and require congressmen to pay for printed matter mailed to their constituents.

Milton E. Robinson Jr., of Chicago, representing the National Retail Coal Merchants' Association, protested against operation of the government fuel yard in Washington, against cooperative buying by federal employees and against government-subsidized farm co-operatives handling retail coal.

2 NEGROES HANGED AS CHOR CHANTS SPIRITUALS NEARBY

BEZELTON, Miss., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Two negroes died on the gallows here today, climaxing a religious demonstration that began last Sunday. Prisoners hummed spirituals and the strains of a favorite hymn floated through the windows from a negro choir outside the jail yard.

Robert Woodward and Will Dixon died for the slaying of Joe Rustici, a 60-year-old Italian merchant of St. Louis, who was killed in a store last November. The negroes expressed a desire for religious instruction while being held in jail waiting their execution. The first demonstration for their spiritual well-being was staged Sunday morning when more than 1,000 negroes assembled in the jail yard from many sections of the Delta, prayed and chanted spirituals far into the night.

Laurel and Hardy Team Amuses Grand Audience

"Pack Up Your Troubles," the Laurel and Hardy full-length comedy, features the new program at Loew's Grand.

As might be expected, the picture provides plenty of laughs, pretending to be nothing but silliness from start to finish. There may be those who think a full-length comedy of this type too much condensed, but for those it might be said that "Pack Up Your Troubles" is by no means padded or drawn out, there being ample reason for each foot of the film.

The picture takes the two inseparable comedians through all the ups and downs of military life, including a little time in the front line trenches. Like most soldiers, however, their troubles have only begun with the signing of the armistice and they find themselves the self-appointed guardians of a little girl, the child of a buddy killed in the war.

The pair's difficulties in locating the little girl's grandfather—named Smith—provide as much mirth as do their antics on the battlefield. Laurel and Hardy are supported by a cleverly arranged cast.

Sharing honors on the Grand bill is Mickey Mouse, always a favorite, and an interesting film, "Nuri, the Elephant," which actually is the autobiography of the "best elephant in all India." This "short" is unique in that it shows a new side to the elephant and is historical, and educational in addition to being of an entertaining nature.

Harry Richman gives another of the Grand singing lessons, this time instructing in the art of singing "I Love a Parade." It's one of those bits in which the audience is asked to and to some extent does join in the chorus. Richman is introduced by the well-known radio favorite, Norman Brookshire.

An interesting newsreel fills out the bill.

MRS. ANNA WEBSTER PASSES IN FLORIDA

Cross Sections of Life In Gate City of South

Dr. L. Minor Blackford, Atlanta physician, left Friday morning to spend Thanksgiving Day with his brother, who is teaching in the medical school of the University of Virginia. He will return the latter part of next week.

Ninth division, United American Mechanics of the Junior Order, will meet with the Avondale Council No. 32 in the Avondale hall for a business session from 3 to 5 o'clock this afternoon dinner at 6, and an entertainment program at 7:30 o'clock, to which the public was invited. Speakers will include R. Frank Smith, division secretary; J. D. Deas, state secretary, and John I. Kelley, of Lawrenceville.

Jack Power, well-known evangelist, will speak at 10 o'clock Sunday morning at the hall of the Knights of America. His subject will be "Depression Dethroning Virtue."

A. B. Kanipe, pastor of the Pentecostal Holiness church, Fair and Kelly streets, will preach at morning and night services at 11 and 7:30 o'clock Sunday. Sunday school will be held at 10 o'clock in the morning.

Dr. Clay I. Hudson, of Nashville, Tenn., will preach at the Capitol View Baptist church Sunday when Loyalty Day will be observed.

Primary and junior departments of the Atlanta School of Oratory and Expression will give a program of oral, dramatic, lyric and humorous readings at 402 Wesley Memorial church at 11 o'clock this morning. The public was invited to attend.

Uncontroverted testimony of an alleged accomplice is sufficient for conviction in a misdemeanor case, the state court of appeals ruled Friday. The decision was made in the case of Frank Branch, charged with possession of liquor and convicted in the Dublin city court. The alleged accomplice testified that liquor found in his home belonged to Branch. The defendant denied this but a jury found him guilty and the higher court upheld the verdict.

A Macon woman attorney Friday won a right to a fee of $20 from a woman client when the court of appeals upheld a verdict granting $20 in attorney's fees to Miss Alene Hardin from Maria Holmes for handling a claim against the Georgia Power company. The decision of the Macon city court was affirmed.

Peter S. Twitty, state commissioner of game and fish, will return today from Monticello, where he attended field trials held in connection with the opening of the hunting season.

Paul W. Seymour, operator of the East Lake Poultry yard, was given a sentence of 15 months by Judge E. M. Underwood, 11 federal district court, Friday when he pleaded guilty of charges of using the mails to defraud in connection with alleged illegal produce business transactions.

Red color scheme for the 400 municipal automobiles and trucks to prevent joy riding will be suggested Monday in council by Councilman George B. Lytle. Lytle also proposes to emblazon the city emblem, the faded phoenix, prominently on the sides of the machines to further identify them. He holds that many thousands of dollars are spent each year by employees using the cars for other than city business.

B. T. Wilson, 55-year-old veteran of the Confederate army, who fell early this week at his home, 290 Wellington street, is recovering rapidly at Grady hospital, it was said Friday. Mr. Wilson is able to receive visitors, his physician said.

Rabbi David Marx will lecture on "Youth Looks at Church and Synagogue" at 11 o'clock Sunday morning at the forum in the Jewish temple. The forum was recently revived after an interval of three years.

Annual fall convention of the Atlanta district school of instruction of the Improved Order of Red Men will be held at the wigwam on Central avenue, beginning at 3 o'clock this afternoon. A buffet supper will be served at 6 o'clock. The public was invited.

Mrs. T. M. Fellers Friday filed suit in Fulton superior court seeking $20,000 damages from the Citizens & Southern National bank, alleging that she was caught by the elevator door in the bank building on October 6 and was injured. Attorney Dean J. Ratcliffe represents the plaintiff.

Salaries of Fulton county department heads for 1933 will be fixed at a special meeting of the county commission next week, Paul S. Etheridge, chairman, said Friday. The commission, under the law, fixes the department heads' salaries at least 30 days before the end of the year, and fixes salaries of other employees just before the new year.

Rules of the civil division of Fulton superior court have been tightened in an effort to catch up with the business of the court.

ADVERTISING LEADERS TOLD DEBT WILL BE CUT

Economist Says Early Beer
Is 50-50 Bet in Address at Atlantic City.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 18.—(AP)—W. M. Kiplinger, Washington business writer and economist, predicted ultimate downward revision of war debts and said prospects for legalization of beer before March 4 were a little stronger than 50-50 in addressing the 23rd annual meeting of the Association of National Advertisers today.

Kiplinger said he doubted currency inflation by the printing press route, saw the probable enactment of a general sales tax, and predicted a reduction of government expenditures and described the business outlook for the next six months as "cloudy" with the rise slow but irregular.

"Congress is in no mood to extend the moratorium for foreign war debts beyond December 15," Kiplinger declared, "and the situation at present indicates either payment or default. . . . Ultimately war debts will be adjusted downward, probably by agreement on some lump sum, perhaps, around two billion dollars, to be represented by a commercial flotation of bonds. It will take six months to work out such a plan."

Congress, he said, at the short session, will not accomplish any large measure of urgent reform legislation, and it will be essential for Mr. Roosevelt to call a special session in the spring.

"Prohibition repeal or resubmission will be debated this winter, but will not be enacted until the subsequent special session," he declared.

Pointing out that the federal budget is in balance about one billion dollars this fiscal year, Mr. Kiplinger said the Hoover administration next month would recommend curtailment of expenditures about $500,000,000, including a large cut in veterans' expenses.

"The revenues must be found and congress will probably vote through a new tax bill late in February," he said.

"There is no consensus as to the form of the new taxes, but a general manufacturer's sales tax has many supporters than any other single proposal. Beer revenue will come along later, affecting revenues for the fiscal year, 1934."

General Blanton Winship, judge advocate general of the United States army, who was scheduled to arrive at Candler field Friday, was forced by inclement weather to remain in Memphis, Tenn., overnight, and will fly here as soon as possible, it was announced. If weather conditions permit, he will probably arrive today, it was said.

Will of Dr. E. Bates Block, leaving the bulk of his estate in trust for his wife, Mrs. Julia Porter Block, and his children, Julia Lowry Block and E. B. Block Jr., was filed Friday with Ordinary Thomas H. Jeffries for probate in solemn form. Mrs. Block is to have a life estate, the trust fund going to the children after her death. Mrs. Block and the Trust Company of Georgia were named executors.

ALABAMA METHODISTS
SUPPORT PROHIBITION CAUSE
TROY, Ala., Nov. 18.—(AP)—The Alabama conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, today adopted a resolution pledging its support to the eighteenth amendment, and Bishop W. N. Ainsworth, of Birmingham, appointed two committees to urge religious bodies of the state to send representatives to a prohibition rally at Birmingham December 6.

The resolution was similar to one adopted in Montgomery by the Alabama Baptist state convention yesterday, which issued the call for the prohibition demonstration in Birmingham to formally launch an organized effort against repeal or modification of the prohibition laws.

LEVINE CHALLENGES
ATTORNEY OF WIFE
NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Charles A. Levine, first trans-Atlantic airplane passenger, became indignant on the witness stand today and challenged Mrs. Levine's attorney to "come outside if you want to use that kind of language to me."

The hearing is before Referee Jacob Marks in Mrs. Levine's divorce suit for separation and application for $52,000 a year alimony.

Referee Marks reserved decision and gave attorneys two weeks in which to file briefs.

Demonstrations of Scoutcraft
Entertain Big Audience at Circus
The fourth annual Boy Scout circus was held Friday night before a large audience at the city auditorium, featuring exhibits of boy and sea scout work, and numbers by the Atlanta police band and various Scout musical organizations.

Opening with a parade of all Scouts, examples of scoutcraft were demonstrated. Troop 1, East Lake, showed how tents are pitched, while Troop 24 exhibited methods of sealing walls and members of Troop 12 erected a log cabin in the auditorium with the use of a nail.

Scout Joe Tarver, of Troop 1, Bolton, won the log-chopping contest, with Scout Bob Grantham second. Honors in the archery contest were all won by members of one family, Lynwood James and Cade Stapleton placing first, second and third, respectively. Scout Bobby Beacher was awarded first prize in the equipment race, which includes resting, placing equipment and running a certain distance. Judges declared he won by a button.

One of the most spectacular stunts on the program was the Indian dance given by Scouts in Troop 60, which followed the Roman chariot race won by Troop 34.

Present Child Suffering Blamed
For Threatened Harvest of Ills
NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Reports made public by the welfare and relief mobilization of 1932 today said low vitality, susceptibility to disease and longer convalescence and delayed care of physical disabilities among children were conditions directly traceable to economic conditions.

"We shall undoubtedly reap a harvest of tuberculosis and other diseases in the next few years from what the children today are suffering," said one report, "unless we redouble our efforts to maintain a decent minimum of living and health standards throughout the country."

In a summation of the reports from various agencies, a statement by Newton D. Baker, chairman, said: "Children have seen the security which their parents have spent years in building wiped out and have agonized with their elders over the ways of keeping the 'wolf from the door.' No child in the United States should be called upon to suffer in any of these ways. Public and private health services should be run at full efficiency during this crisis in order to guard the health of our boys and girls. In no other way can we remove the burden of handicaps from the next generation."

TENNESSEE WOMAN RUTHLESSLY SLAIN IN WEST KNOXVILLE

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 18.—(AP)—Officers today sought to solve the mysterious slaying of Mrs. James G. Crumbliss, 60, wife of a former city commissioner, who was ruthlessly shot down by an unidentified man last night as he was walking to her daughter's apartment in an exclusive residential neighborhood of West Knoxville.

Safety Director Walter Anderson said he believed the murder was planned.

Mrs. Crumbliss, mother of three grown children, was shot without warning by the gunman who approached her in the semi-darkness of the street, pressed a pistol to her side and a short distance to the apartment of her daughter, Mrs. Joe Duncan Jr.

"He shot me deliberately," Mrs. Crumbliss gasped as her daughter reached her side. She died four hours later at a hospital. She was unable to give officers a description of her assailant.

THREE MORE STATES
GIVEN RELIEF LOANS
WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Relief for the needy in three states today was granted by the Reconstruction Corporation, Arkansas getting $287,268, Indiana $85,000 and Missouri $7,000.

UNIFORM TAXATION
OF CARRIERS URGED
Chicagoan Offers Plan for Rate Regulation of All Groups.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Harry A. Wheeler, of Chicago, president of the American Railway Business Association, in an address tonight at Purdue University's third annual industrial conference, proposed adoption of a uniform system of taxation for all common carriers, rail, highway, water and air. As an alternative, he suggested a scheme of rate regulations for all groups, with the rates to be published.

The industrial conference, called by the Purdue Research Foundation to consider industrial topics in general, attracted leading manufacturers and financiers from various middle western industrial centers.

In his address Mr. Wheeler said the various agencies that have entered into the field of transportation have taken a share of the business of the rail lines without undergoing the same regulation as meted out to the railroads. He said it was impossible for a combination of the highway, air and water services to supersede the railroads.

In his discussion of a uniform code of taxation for all common carriers he proposed a license for interstate transport based upon the registered horsepower and carrying capacity of their vehicles or the tonnage of their ships. Such license would constitute a right-of-way tax to be collected by federal agents, Mr. Wheeler said, and to be redistributed to the states in which operations are conducted, the distribution to be made upon the basis of the annual mileage traveled in each state under the sworn report of each carrier.

GAS BRINGS DEATH
TO AGED SPINSTERS
SECLUDED SINCE '02
TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Death, stealing upon them from a world they shut out for 30 years, has struck down the Misses Emma and Amelia Richardson, spinster sisters, for whom time stopped at the year 1902.

In an old house which they had made a hermitage of Victorianism in a bewildering world of modernity, the sisters, 76 and 73 years old, were found dead yesterday, clutched in the bustles and ruffles of a vanished day.

Today authorities decided that it was gas, one of the few conveniences in that quaint house, that caused their death. A partly opened burner on the kitchen range and the positions of the frail bodies told the story.

RADIO "INFLUENCE" IS CHARGED IN SUIT
TO CONTEST WILL
LOS ANGELES, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Radio broadcasting has been brought to the attention of the probate court here in a charge it was the channel of an undue influence in the making of a will.

Mrs. Aimee David Martin filed a contest against the will of her father, George W. Davis, of Covina, who died last month. His will provided a legacy of $1 to her, his only child, with the bulk of the estate bequeathed to the John E. Brown College, Ltd., of Siloam Springs, Ark.

She sets forth that her father's sole diversion was the radio, that his only knowledge of the college was obtained from radio broadcasts, and that Evangelist Brown "took advantage of Davis' condition of body and mind and solicited over the radio, thus bringing undue influence to bear upon Davis in making the will."

The will was dated last April, at which time, says Mrs. Martin, her father was of unsound mind.

Miss Askew Makes Formal Debut At Reception and Supper Dance

Miss Gertrude Askew, who was photographed yesterday at the reception given by her mother, Mrs. Walter Scott Askew, at her home on Peachtree road, formally presenting her daughter to Atlanta society. Mr. and Mrs. Askew entertained members of the Debutante Club and their escorts at a supper-dance in the evening. Staff photograph.

Miss Gertrude Askew, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Scott Askew, made her formal bow to society yesterday afternoon at a brilliant reception given by her mother at her residence on Peachtree road. Quantities of bright-lit fall flowers combined with gleaming tapers graced the reception room. Palms and ferns interspersed with pedestals of similar blossoms were grouped in the corners of the living room and wide hall, and numerous floral offerings, the gifts of friends, adorned the rooms.

Before the colonial mirrors in the back parlor, which reflected the bright flowers, tall palms and ferns, Miss Askew received the several hundred guests with her mother and her sister, Miss Mary Askew. Attired in a simple-cut gown of white chiffon velvet which fitted closely her slender, graceful figure, Miss Askew accepted the congratulations of her friends. Caught by her shoulder was an exquisite spray of delicately-shaded pink orchids effectively combined with valley lilies. She carried a huge bouquet of Talisman roses and valley lilies showered with Sweetheart roses.

Miss Askew wore a handsome black lace gown fashioned along princess lines, and a shoulder spray of orchids in violet tones. Miss Mary Askew carried a huge bouquet of white critically crepe with a corsage of orchids. Quantities of pink roses and pink snapdragons graced the dining room. The tea table was overlaid with an imported lace cloth, was graced in the center by a mound of fruit with a miniature turkey, suggesting the Thanksgiving season.

The business session was presided over by the new president, Mrs. Sam B. Biesner. Mrs. L. E. Powell, retiring president, with a lovely amber console set for services rendered the past two years.

The clubmembers will be entertained by Mrs. Sam B. Biesner on December 15 at a Christmas party at her home on Highland avenue, N. E.

Miss Patti Wright McGhee Weds Mr. Enloe at Ceremony in Rome

ROME, Ga., Nov. 18.—Miss Patti Wright McGhee and Van Porter Enloe were married Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the First Methodist church, the Rev. L. Wilkie Collins officiating, with the marriage service of the church in the presence of a large assemblage of friends and relatives.

Mrs. W. O. Tarpley rendered a program of organ music as the guests assembled. Mrs. Paul Nixon sang "At Dawning" and "Because." Numbers of the musical program were "Liebestraum," "Last," and "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice." "Little Star," The march from Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream" was used as a processional and when the bride entered the church, on the arm of her father, J. Frank McGhee, the march from "Lohengrin" was played when the bride left the church.

Ushers taking their place before the altar, which was a background of greenery thrown into relief by many waxen tapers, were Graham Wright, Henry Moore, Edward H. Oliver and Doris A. Moore.

The bride's only attendant, her sister, Miss Lynn McGhee, preceded her in the procession. She wore a pinkish blue. It was semi-empire in effect, the wide girl ending in streamers crossed at the waistline, and was trimmed on either side with brilliant buttons. The neckline was high and finished with a bow of the material. She carried pink hydrangea roses and wore pink slippers. Her hat, in the same shade of the gown, was trimmed with tiny pink roses on the crown.

As the bride came down the central church aisle with her father, the bridegroom and his best man, his brother Roger of Enloe, Thomas Waycross, entered the church from the left of the chancel and awaited her before the chancel. The beautiful bride wore a quaint gown of lace fashioned on a princess lines, with short puffed sleeves finished with real lace, and a bertha of real lace edged the yoke that fitted closely around her throat. The built-in train was overlaid with tulle and the cap of the veil was edged with real lace and worn with a face veil. She carried lilies of the valley showered with swainsons. Her slippers were ivory colored and she carried a real lace handkerchief.

Mrs. McGhee, mother of the bride, wore a black satin-back crepe made coat effect with an underbust of Alencon lace. Her flowers were a cluster of pink roses. Mrs. V. P. Enloe, of Buchanan, mother of the bridegroom, wore a black chiffon gown. Her flowers were red roses. Mr. and Mrs. Enloe, after a motor trip, will be at home in an apartment on East Eighth street, in Rome.

"These United States" To Be Subject Of Mrs. Poole's Timely Address Today

BY BESSIE S. STAFFORD,
Editor of Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs.

The attention of hundreds of Georgia clubwomen will be focused today on the subject of "These United States," when Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, of Brockton, Mass., distinguished president of General Federation of Women's Clubs, speak at the breakfast given in her honor at 10 o'clock at the Atlanta Woman's Club.

Mrs. Poole will bring to her audience a vital message from the august body she heads, in which she will turn the spotlight on "These United States," the keynote of her administration.

The alert, intelligent and exceedingly human national leader of clubwomen keeps her ear close to the heart of these United States, and she desires that clubwomen shape their policies and plans for the next few years with the objective of a finer country than the one we have today.

But this objective is unconsciously the aim of clubwomen all of the time, but, at this particular moment, she pleads with them to make it consciously so. Mrs. Poole will urge them to make home truly home, and to make citizenship active all of the time.

She will also urge them to make citizenship active all of the time, and to make citizenship active all of the time, and to make citizenship active all of the time.

Many clubwomen will remember Mrs. Poole when she came here to attend the convention of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs held in Decatur in the spring of 1928, during the state presidency of Mrs. A. F. Douglas, of Atlanta, fifth district.

At that time, Mrs. Poole was president of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, and she was elected to the first vice presidency of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs.

And now, something about the personality of the attractive and winsome little woman who was elevated to the highest position in the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs held in Decatur in the spring of 1928, during the state presidency of Mrs. A. F. Douglas, of Atlanta, fifth district.

She is slender and willowy of figure, moves quickly, is exceedingly vivacious, and is blessed with lots of "come hither." She is a born leader of women and all like to be led by Mrs. Poole. She rises early and is at her desk every morning at 9 o'clock and remains there until noon.

Out she goes for luncheon, but she is back at her desk at 2, and stays until 3 o'clock. Whether or not Mrs. Poole has cleared her desk, she puts aside her work and goes to a concert or the theater, or else takes up her embroidery.

Yes, the dynamic little woman who is president of General Federation of Women's Clubs loves to embroider and points with pride to this old-fashioned accomplishment. She includes the theater in her weekly time-budget and declares that a certain amount of amusement should figure in every woman's life.

Mrs. Poole teaches a boys' Sunday school class in Brockton and she plays the piano and contracts bridge. One of her prized possessions is a handsome pin set with rubies, sapphires and small diamonds, presented her when she was president of the Atlanta Woman's Club.

PARIS LOVE

By Nina Wilcox Putnam

WHAT WAS GONE BEFORE. Alacia Sayers' fat, middle-aged, middle-western mother had continued the manufacture in France of the Europe. Alacia had been a girl of 10 years previously, and she was now worth $50,000,000. Alacia had been a girl of 10 years previously, and she was now worth $50,000,000. Alacia had been a girl of 10 years previously, and she was now worth $50,000,000.

"Have you any idea who she was?" asked Alacia.

"Not the remotest," his subordinate replied. "I never saw her before and it's not likely she'll come back when she finds out what she's got."

"I hope to heaven she doesn't come back," growled Santini. "Fine mess that would make! Name of a cat, you must have acted the fool! Get Victorine in and let's see what she has to say for herself. Jacques," he added, turning to the young apaches, "tell that imbecile sister of yours to come here!"

The boy arose slowly and opening the door to an adjoining room called out a sentence in almost unintelligible argot and presently Victorine entered wiping her hands on a dirty apron and shrinking back against the wall as she caught sight of Santini. He jerked her roughly toward him, his eyes ablaze with fury.

"It was not my fault," the holy Virgin be my witness! she gibbered at him. "There was a traffic block. I got out and would have run the remainder of the way but for fear of people remarking on it. It is all the fault of that type Charles, who drove the taxi."

"So it's always the fault of somebody else, is it?" Santini was smiling unpleasantly and had not let go of her arm. Slowly he twisted it behind her until she cried out in pain. "Let me explain, you dirty little poule, that there is no shifting of blame in our happy family. You have behaved disgracefully. You ought to have your neck wrung."

"Let go!" she cried in agony. "Ramon! Jacques! Make him stop, he's breaking my arm!" Nobody moved, however, until Santini, abruptly letting go, struck the girl a blow on the side of the head which sent her reeling across the room to a couch where she fell face downward and lay sobbing.

"Just to remind you," said Santini amiably, "to be on time in the future! As for Charles, I'll settle that gutter rat later. You people need not think of allowing my carefully arranged plans to be disturbed by your slackness. With you, my pack of fools would be helpless. And now, if that is thoroughly understood by all, we'll have a further report from our South American friend here."

He nodded sagaciously toward Ramon, who arrested his green-tipped cigarette halfway to his lips and spoke with ingratiating fervor.

"Tons!" he remarked. "The Wolf is quite right to be annoyed, particularly as things are, tightening up a bit at Piron's. Our little game can't go on forever in that quarter and it is really a pity that a job miscarried."

Ramon has reason!" put in Etienne, the elegant. "Nothing has been missed as yet, but if, let us say, a client should appear for those cornflower sapphires, well, things might conceivably become very awkward."

"And perhaps," added Ramon, "it is just as well that this fellow Armand actually sold that real necklace, for if anything breaks, suspicion will fall on him, yes? And I can always point out that I tried to discourage the sale."

"Parbleu! My friend, you give me an idea," Santini exclaimed. "What sort of a chap is this Armand? A dull fellow?"

"Not dull, but honest to the point of naivete."

"Consequently he will not have a suspicious nature," Santini decided. "Good! He can be very useful to us. You shall make friends with him. You will help him to learn the business and push him to wait on wealthy clients. And all to an important end. You are all aware of my friendship with Mrs. Sayers, the rich American? Etienne nodded.

"I know her by sight," he volunteered. "She is a client of Piron's." "I noticed the girl on the sofa had raised herself on her elbow and was listening."

"Exactly!" replied Santini. "Well, this Mrs. Sayers has some very valuable rubies, stones which are more easily copied than any other. She has not been wearing them because the settings are old-fashioned, but I have persuaded her to have them reset."

"Ahah!" exclaimed Ramon. "The old fence aroused himself long enough to open his little red eyes and shoot a covetous look in Santini's direction. 'Rubies are hard to dispose of,' he said. 'I regretfully could not touch them. But I have a friend in Genoa who has an excellent outlet. The steward of an important Maharajah is a good client of his.'"

"All right, Papa Predieu!" Santini smiled. "We'll come to that later. Listen now! Mrs. Sayers has had colored photographs taken of these jewels—remarkably good photographs which give one an excellent idea of their size and shading. Having these in her pocket, she has a charming idea of pictures made was a charming idea of her own. Naturally I have a complete set, although she is unaware of the fact." From an inside pocket he produced a handful of photographs which he scattered on the cloth. The men crowded to look and a little gasp of astonishment went up.

"Grand Dieu!" breathed Ramon. "They are colossal!"

"Crown jewels," the fence put in unexpectedly. "If I am not mistaken they belonged once to the Prince of Georgia," Santini nodded. "You have reason!" he affirmed. "Magnificent, with the value of a king's ransom. Papa Predieu, you take these photographs and have a set of copies made—not of the settings, merely of the stones themselves. Your clever little Japanese boy will help you as usual no doubt. Then you will give the copies to Etienne who has access to the safe and naturally it will be he who will attend to the substitution which must be made only at the last minute. Now listen very carefully to what I have to say."

Santini paused and looked at the circle of intent faces which were fastened on his. Then he spoke again, laying careful emphasis on each syllable.

"This is what will occur. Mrs. Sayers will bring in the jewels for resetting and in some manner it must be arranged that this chap Armand handles all her business. The stones will be set at Piron's so that when Madame Sayers and I come to look at the new settings, the loose stones can be placed on the drawings to show exactly how they will look on the finished pieces. Not more than one hour in advance of our visit the substitution of the false stones must take place. Etienne, you will leave the real stones into Ramon's charge, wrapped in a small bundle of dirty chamois. I will drive up in my racing Europa with Madame Sayers. She will have at the front door, and immediately park the Europa in the little courtyard behind the shop. You will be waiting for her. Ramon, the jewels in your pocket. As soon as I park the car and join Madame Sayers, you will go out into the courtyard for a breath of air and admire the Europa, during which most natural procedure you will manage to slip a certain small bundle of solid chamois into the foot locker under the running board. Do you follow me clearly? Ramon nodded rather tensely.

"The Europa?" he exclaimed. "But that is the very same car which you are to drive at Monte Carlo?"

"My dear infant, but how you grow intelligent!" said Santini approvingly. "It will most certainly be that car, and moreover I shall be leaving for Monte Carlo in it that same night!"

"And in the meantime?" asked Etienne, "while this Armand is showing you the stones?"

"I shall become suspicious," said Santini quietly. "In fact I shall question the identity of the stones and there will be the very devil of a row. The experts will be called in. It will be clear, no doubt, that they are fakes, and Madame Sayers will be justifiably furious. I will be a hero for making the discovery of the fraud and M. Armand, who has handled the whole transaction well, I greatly fear, he'll be arrested."

"Name of a name!" protested Etienne Lejarre. "And how about me?"

Continued Monday.

Mrs. Woodward Will Preside At Y. W. C. A. Luncheon Meeting

Mrs. Comer Woodward, who recently assumed chairmanship of the Y. W. C. A. industrial committee, will preside at a luncheon meeting of the committee today at 1 o'clock in the Y club dining room, 37 Auburn avenue. Mrs. Woodward succeeds Mrs. C. H. Aikens, who was president of the committee for the past year.

Her successor, Mrs. Woodward, is well-fitted to carry on the work, as she has served on the industrial committee and is familiar with various phases of Y. W. C. A. work. As the wife of Dr. Comer Woodward, dean of men and professor of sociology at Emory University, Mrs. Woodward takes a leading part in the cultural and religious life of university circles. She is vice president of the missionary society, Glenn Memorial church, member of Emory University Club, president of the Twentieth Century Coteries, secretary of the "Other Mother Club," and serves on the board of child welfare. She has a deep understanding of the economic problems facing industrial girls and will use every effort to have the Y. W. C. A. reach a large number of them.

An interesting program, prepared by Miss Carrie Lou Allgood, industrial secretary, will open with the prayer on world fellowship, written by Mrs. C. M. Van Asch Van Wijk, of Holland, who is president of the world's Y. W. C. A. Mrs. Julian Robinson, program chairman, will outline the yearly programs and Mrs. J. Bonar White, education and mem-

The following guests are invited to the luncheon: Mesdames Essie DuPre, Perrin Nicholson Jr., Emmett Quinn, Horace Smith, Carl Karsten, A. Worth Hobbs, Augustus M. Roan, Mervyn Evans, W. M. Wilks, Garretts, Martzoff, John D. Evans, William McLarin, Wright Bryan, Misses Mary Barker, Charlotte Templeton, Opal McLain, Ruth Mann, Dick Schmitt, Rachel Johnson, Mary Richardson, Elizabeth Hale, Eula Lang, Joyce Adams, president of Rainbow Club; Hill Nolan, Beulah Cooper, Ollie McFleming, May Beas Morris, Leola Young.

National Defense and Armistice Day Embodied in Gen. Estes' D. A. R. Address

General George H. Estes, U. S. A., spoke at the brilliant patriotic celebration of the fourteenth anniversary of the armistice of the World War, held by the Atlanta Chapter D. A. R. at Craigie house last Tuesday. General Estes, a brigadier general of the United States army, is in command of the eighth brigade at Fort Monmouth, N. J.

Before entering the army his home was Columbus, Ga., and he graduated from the University of Georgia and West Point Military Academy. He saw foreign service in the Spanish-American War and the World War.

General Estes embodied in his address the subjects of national defense and Armistice Day, and spoke with admiration of the national defense policy of the D. A. R., and that this policy is being followed by the United States government, and is known as the national defense act of 1920. He brought to memory the dedication of the tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington cemetery held 11 years ago on Armistice Day, and stated that he considered this dedication one of the greatest in American history. He urged the present generation to carry on the lofty ideals of American citizenship for which this sacrifice was made.

General Estes also spoke of the fact that the message of the Armistice Day was "Peace," but that peace without honor could not be considered, and that the greatest assurance of peace is adequate national defense. General Estes was introduced by Mrs. J. D. Cromer, regent of the Atlanta Chapter D. A. R., who presided over the celebration.

Mrs. C. V. LeCraw, chairman of music committee, introduced Mr. and Mrs. F. Stanley Perry. Mr. Perry, who possesses a lovely tenor voice, accompanied by Mrs. Perry on the piano, gave the program as follows: "In Plauders Field," music by Mark Andrews, and "The Starry, Starry Night," by Geoffrey O'Hara. The invocation was led by Mrs. Thomas H. Morgan, the chaplain, and members remained standing for the allegiance to the flag. Georgia Society D. A. R. "America," was sung by the assembly.

Mrs. Cromer introduced Mrs. Julian Curry, of Athens, state regent of Georgia Society D. A. R., a distinguished guest who brought greetings from the state society and complimented her on her state conference. Mrs. Curry is anticipating the state conference of the Georgia Society to be entertained by the Atlanta Chapter D. A. R. during March, 1933. Other distinguished guests introduced by Mrs. Cromer were Mrs. W. F. Dykes, state first vice regent; Mrs. Thomas Coke Mel, state corresponding secretary; Mrs. J. Harold Nicholson, state historian; Mrs. Julius Y. Talmadge, ex-vice president General National Society D. A. R.; Mrs. Howard H. McCall, ex-vice president General National Society D. A. R.; Mrs. Max E. Land, ex-state regent of Georgia; Mrs. Ben White, ex-state regent of Georgia; and Mrs. E. E. Talmadge, ex-state regent of Georgia.

Mrs. Cromer extended a welcome to members of the Baron DeKalb Chapter of Deatur, Joseph Habersham Chapter and to visitors. She introduced Mrs. C. M. Van Wijk, regent of the Baron DeKalb Chapter, D. A. R., and Mrs. Warren D. White, ex-regent of the Joseph Habersham Chapter, D. A. R., and national his-

Miss Brita Aspegren Weds John Hodgson, Formerly of Athens

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Miss Brita Aspegren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Aspegren, of Norfolk, and John McCullough Hodgson, of Cheyenne, Wyo., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Reginald Hodgson, of Athens, Ga., were married here this afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Sunny Court, North Shore Point.

Miss Aspegren, sister of the bride, of Wellesley, Mass., was maid of honor and only attendant, and James Harris, formerly of Athens, and now of Charlotte, N. C., was the best man. A buffet supper followed the ceremony. After a honeymoon trip to Bermuda Mr. and Mrs. Hodgson will make their home in Cheyenne.

The associate matrons and associate patrons of the Atlanta chapter were honor guests and each one present was presented a little gift by the associate matron of Lebanon chapter.

A number of attractive books made by the members of Lebanon chapter for the children in the Scottish Rite hospital were on display. The officers had decorated baskets in the different colors of the stars, which were filled with provisions to be distributed for Thanksgiving.

Among the guests were Harry Garrett, worthy grand patron of the grand chapter of Georgia; Mrs. Donna Lawhon, associate grand matron; Mrs. M. E. Evans, grand matron; Mrs. Pauline Dillon and W. J. Lane, grand instructors of Atlanta district No. 2; Geneva Roddick and Mr. Burnett, grand patrons of Atlanta district No. 2; a number of worthy matrons and patrons and visitors from chapters in Atlanta.

Because of the absence of Mrs. W. R. Smith, recording secretary, Mrs. Owen McConnell served as a recording secretary. Miss Lillian Tidwell, the chairman, was in charge of the display of the Washington bicentennial plates, which are decorated with various scenes depicting the career of George Washington and may be purchased for various prices and colors.

Miss Tidwell stated that the sale of the plates would close Thursday, November 24. Mrs. Bernard Wolff, the chairman, requested members of the chapter desiring to see for the need to report at the Red Cross workrooms on Peachtree street at 9:30 o'clock Tuesday, November 22. Mrs. James L. Logan, chairman of D. A. R. magazine, spoke of the special historical value of the magazine during the period of the Washington Bicentennial celebration and requested members to subscribe to the magazine.

Craigie house was decorated with autumn berries and foliage. The lace-covered tea table, presided over by Mesdames W. F. Dykes and John Rice was significant of the Thanksgiving season, and was decorated with fruit and foliage. Mrs. Arthur Allen, one of the chairman, was in charge of the entertainment by members of the hospitality committee.

Belles Are Feted At Party Series

Miss Martha Mizell, popular November bride-elect; Miss Sue Burnett, debutante, and her guest, Miss Marian Malm, of Cleveland, Ohio, and Miss Betty Peeples, of Savannah, who is the feted guest of Miss Mimi O'Beirne at her home on Wesley road, shared honors at the luncheon at which Miss Catherine Bryant was hostess yesterday at the home on Seminary avenue.

Yesterday afternoon Miss Mizell and Miss Burnett were complimented at the tea at which Miss Beattie Baxter entertained at her home on Wakefield drive.

Forming the receiving line with the hostess was her mother, Mrs. J. F. Baxter, and Mrs. William Howard, of Columbus, the guest of Miss Mizell; Miss Malm, the guest of Miss Burnett and Miss Peeples, the guest of Miss O'Beirne. The guests of Miss O'Beirne were Misses Maudie Walker, O'Beirne, Catherine Bryant, Phoebe Rhett, Eleanor Memminger and Mrs. Richmond Pabst.

Miss Burnett and Miss Peeples will be central figures at the supper party at which Miss O'Beirne will be hostess Wednesday evening, November 23, at her home on Wesley road.

Mrs. Ben Miller will entertain at a bridge-luncheon Tuesday, November 22, at her home on Twelfth street, in honor of Miss Peeples.

J. C. Plans to Continue Work Of Caring for Veterans' Widows

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 18.—(AP)—The work of caring for needy widows of Confederate veterans, the United Daughters of the Confederacy decided today, will be carried on throughout the coming year.

The assurance was given in pledges secured on the convention floor after Mrs. Amos Norris, of Tampa, Fla., the first vice president-general, sketched her work as chairman of the "Mrs. Norman V. Randolph Relief Fund."

Mrs. Norris reported the payment of pensions amounting to $15 a month to 23 women during the year ending an end. Most of these women now live in northern states in which no state pensions are provided for Confederate widows.

"The fund was established in 1903 by Mrs. Norman V. Randolph, of Richmond, Va., and she acted as chairman for many years," Mrs. Norris said. "At her death, the fund was officially designated as a memorial to her. It depends entirely upon pledges made at the convention."

Mrs. Norris made it clear that no pensions are paid widows, or other relatives of Confederate soldiers for whom pensions are provided by state legislation. She also emphasized that no new names can be added to the pension rolls under the present budget.

As an example of the extensive operation of the Atlanta chapter, Norris recalled the case of a little band of Confederate soldiers, refusing to take the oath of allegiance to the United States, who were taken to Brazil. Years later, a merchant of that place years until her death a few years ago. Mrs. John C. Abernathy, of Chicago, chairman of the chapter, is distributing southern literature for home and foreign libraries, reported an increased demand for literature concerning the south and southern people.

The true history of the south is being broadcast throughout the country, she said, and as the years go by we find increasing understanding everywhere.

Tonight's social activities were featured by a grand ball in honor of convention guests.

The convention will be concluded tomorrow with the installation of Mrs. William E. R. Byrne, of Charleston, W. Va., re-elected as president-general, and her fellow officers.

A formal acceptance of Baltimore's bid for the 1933 convention was voted unanimously.

FRIENDLY COUNSEL

BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD.
Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

Every now and then we come across some magazine article that depresses us painfully by reason of its rank realism, which we recognize as deep truth. No matter how pessimistic a writer may be about modern youth, he or she may paint the picture he or she may paint of its irreverence, its irresponsibility, its indifference and listless attitude toward serious matters. One always remembers that it is youth and that there is plenty of time for reform. One is always tempted to say, "I hope that youth and hope go hand in hand, and though age may not be able to pass to youth the lessons it has learned by experience, life itself will vouchsafe to the young that experience which is always sobering and standing in its effect. But when a writer discusses the youth of our time, one is struck by the fact that when they settle down to old people and when those old people are their own parents whose thoughtless and whose life they have reached at closest range, she leaves no room for doubt as to the tragic significance of their situation.

Such an article recently appeared from the pen of E. R. Richardson in which she laments the "Pitiable Plight of our youth." She has reached the age of retirement from the business or profession that has occupied them since early manhood, men that have left on their hands so to speak, a life of comparative idleness.

Here are some of the articles that we should read and set away for our own use. First, money, a reasonable proportion of all that has passed through our hands, without independence there is no happiness. The old person may expect better treatment at the hands of his or her own children.

Fourth, faith, faith in the present and in the future, faith in our fellowmen and faith in the Creator. By it we live and by it we must die.

CULBERTSON ON CONTRACT

BY ELY CULBERTSON,
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

The Burden of the Lead
"If you hadn't had to lead, Ely, we could have defeated the hand," Oswald Jacoby, in a recent match game in which the declarer was Mrs. Culbertson. It was a practice game, played in preparation for the Vanderbilt cup contest.

Mrs. Jacoby's analysis of the situation was absolutely correct. She

TARZAN THE UNTAMED No. 132

The native insurrection ended with the victory of the British into the Maharajah's city. In the royal courtyard a truce was signed the day when Pat, slaying the ruler in self-defense, made his miraculous escape.

As no one had witnessed that, nobody could explain the danger in the Maharajah's heart. Prince Ahmed, his son and Roger Cecil's friend, now mounted the throne amid three days of magnificent ceremony. ... Pat and Roger went winging homeward.

Pat soon recovered from her recent shocks. The craft had flown several hours when, to avoid the dangers of a suddenly approaching storm, Roger drove his plane to a higher altitude. It seemed safely past the center of the terrific air currents below. ... Then they heard a spluttering, grinding sound and the engine stopped! Before Roger could regain control, the plane dropped several hundred feet. There, Pat and the unlucky man found themselves in the storm's blinding, roaring, wind-driven fury!

A Message to the People of Atlanta and Surrounding Territory, by Mr. Wood, Vice President, General Manager:

We have had sales and you have attended sales, but never in all of your experience in the furniture business has it been my pleasure to offer to the buying public bargains like we have in this Rummage Sale. You will quickly see as you read this ad that profits have been forgotten as we could not possibly replace this merchandise at anywhere near the prices we are offering it to you for. And, please remember, these items only represent a few of the thousands of bargains. No matter what your plans are for today, let nothing keep you from this bargain feast. You can truly believe me when I say that never before has this store, and I don't believe any other furniture store, ever offered such tremendous savings.
